

RAIL TROUBLES SURE REGARDLESS OF DECISION

Wage Board Abrogates Agreement
Non-Union Threatens Strike While Executives Say If Agreements
Continue Roads Face Bankruptcy.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Chicago, Feb. 7.—The railway wage issue today is squarely up to the United States Railway Labor Board. Decision as to whether the existing national agreements shall live or whether they shall be abolished and railroads permitted to reduce the wages paid to their employees rests entirely with the board. Appeals of the labor unions to President Wilson to intervene in the dispute brought no result. The president, in a telegram to the board, chairman of the American Association of Railway Executives, urged the board to take action other than to take the plea of the employees and the claims of the railroads to the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Railway Wage Labor Board. "It would be manifestly unfair for me to take any action which would interfere with the orderly procedure of the boards," the president said in his telegram. "In their action I think we may repose entire confidence. To seek to interfere with either of these bodies upon a thing which has been placed within their jurisdiction by congress would be unwise and open to grave objection."

Thomas DeWitt Cuyler, chairman of the American Association of Railway Executives, promptly telegraphed to the president his approval of the action taken. His telegram congratulated the president on his "sound and proper conclusion."

Labor officials have not as yet made public any statement or comment upon the president's action. Action by the Railway Wage Labor Board has been delayed by the failure of the employees' representatives to appear and present their side of the case. Two postponements have been granted. B. M. Jewell, head of the railway department of the American Federation of Labor, and the spokesman of the employees. It is now expected that Jewell will appear before the board on Thursday.

Regardless of the decision of the board changing the national agreements, observers of the situation indicate indications of prolonged dissatisfaction. If the agreements are not abrogated, the roads say, they will be bankrupt; if they are abrogated, the unions threaten a strike that would paralyze transportation.

MURTAGH WANTED IN SCHENECTADY

Paahandler Arrested Here and Discharged Saturday by Judge Shufeldt Sought by Schenectady Police on Petit Larceny Charge.

Lawrence Murtagh, 18 years old, a paahandler arrested here with William Roy Campbell, on a charge of paahandling the local clergy, is wanted in Schenectady on a charge of petit larceny. As related in the Freeman Saturday, Judge Shufeldt charged Murtagh and he left Schenectady accompanied by his sister, who came on to see her brother. Campbell was released Friday.

Sunday morning the local police department received the following telegram from the chief of police of Schenectady: "Understand your department has Lawrence Murtagh in custody. I hold petit larceny warrant. Advise when we can get him. Send warrant with officer."

The local department wired the Schenectady chief that Murtagh had been released Saturday and had presumably gone to New York with his sister.

REVOLVER RATTLE.

New York Streets Resound in Gunfire Without Bloodshed.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Feb. 7.—A thrilling revolver battle was staged early today when four uniformed policemen, one of whom was armed with a revolver, were surrounded by a mob of about a hundred men in the crowded streets of Manhattan. The four men were surrounded after dozens of shots had been fired. So far as could be seen, no one was wounded. Several women fainted and there was a great screaming for cover as the mob raged. The prisoners were taken to the station and later released. Labor troubles are again being heard from behind the scenes.

SO. AFRICA MAY QUIT EMPIRE

Fervent Campaign Over Issue of Secession Ends With Vote Tomorrow—Labor Holds Whip Hand.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Feb. 7.—The political campaign in the Union of South Africa, with African secession from the British Empire as the leading issue has reached feverish heat and the whole country is in a whirlwind of excitement, said advices from Cape Town, Pretoria and Durban today. The balloting will take place tomorrow.

Followers of General Smuts, leader of the Imperialists, (anti secessionists) claim that labor will support the Imperialists on some issues, notably the continuance of South Africa as part of the British Empire, but will oppose other planks of the Imperialists' platform. Secession from the British Empire is the chief plank of the Nationalists, led by General Herog, who want South Africa converted into an independent republic.

Labor leaders declare that whether South Africa remains in the British Empire, or not, they will make "class war" a live issue in the country.

UPTON FEDERAL INCOME TAX MAN

George Upton, of Montrose, Westchester county, has been appointed in charge of the counties of Rockland, Orange, Ulster, Greene and Sullivan, to look after the federal income tax returns, with headquarters in the office of the deputy collector of internal revenue, Mr. Deisner, in the Newburgh post office building. The returns are to be filed on or before March 15 and Mr. Upton has upward of 14,000 blanks to distribute to those who are liable for the income tax to the federal government. The greater portion of his time will be spent in Newburgh, during which he will cheerfully assist those who are in doubt as to what they are presumed to report on.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Cooney-Finnerty.

Peter R. Cooney of Rosendale and Miss Mary A. Finnerty of No. 21 East Pierpont street were united in marriage Sunday afternoon at St. Mary's Church by the Rev. Cornelius Norris. They were attended by Richard Weeks and Miss Margaret Scully.

Soper-Terwilliger.
A quiet wedding took place at the St. James parsonage on Saturday morning when Miss Soper and Miss Beatrice M. Terwilliger, both of this city, were joined in marriage by Dr. T. H. Baragwanath. Only a few friends witnessed the ceremony. After their honeymoon the young couple will make their home in this city.

The Coterie.
On Saturday afternoon the Coterie met with Mrs. H. H. Plomming at her home on West Chestnut street. Two most excellent and informing as well as inspiring papers were read "Municipal Income and Expenditures," by Mrs. Watts, and "Suggestions for a Local Americanization Program," by Mrs. Frank Thompson. The next meeting of the Coterie will be with Mrs. Weyant, when "The City Sanitary" will be the general topic.

Surprise Party.

A very pleasant surprise party was tendered at the home of Miss Gertrude Diach Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Games, dancing and singing were enjoyed by all. Piano selections were rendered by nearly all present while a classical dance was most beautifully rendered by Miss Colleen Munday and Miss Anna Sans. At a late hour the guests were ushered into a beautifully decorated dining room where a feast was served. In the middle of the evening the guests both girls and boys departed, all vowing Miss Diach a royal entertainer.

A Surprise Party.

A very pleasant party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dugan on Friday evening, February 5. There were a number of special features on the program. Songs were also rendered by the Messrs. Andrew Jackson and William Warner, among them being "Down the Trail to Home Sweet Home," "That Old Irish Mother of Mine," and "Maggie," which were enjoyed by all. After a number of games were played the guests assembled in a beautifully decorated dining room where a buffet luncheon was served at midnight. Those present were the Messrs. Helen Sadov, Mary Williams, Emily Anderson, Jeanette Anderson, Catherine Teasdale, Anna Abrams, Catherine Williams, Mary Seabrook, Louise Seitz, Helen Kelso, and the Messrs. Louis Greene, William Warner, Andrew Jackson, Fred Williams, Tony Gill, Ira Nickles, John Gill, Charles Brayton, James Dugan, Harry Healy, William Healy, John Bernard and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Dugan and two children. The guests departed in the early hours of the morning vowing Mr. and Mrs. Dugan royal entertainers.

Thompson & Ray Scouts.

Thompson & Ray Scouts will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. This is Boy Scout week. Plans will be made for the coming week.

GOVERNOR MILLER BACK AT DESK

His Traction Program Finds More
Friends—Lockwood Committee's
Fate To Be Decided This Week—
Waterpower Question Important—
Hearing On Enforcement Bills.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Feb. 7.—Continuance of the work of the Lockwood legislative housing committee depends on senate action this week. Concurrently by the upper house in assembly action which approved curtailment of the committee's powers means immediate ending of the legislative probe of housing conditions throughout the state, if Senator Charles C. Lockwood, chairman of the committee, does not alter his announced views.

The probe so far has hinged largely upon the work of Samuel Undermyer, senior counsel for the committee, who has given his ultimatum to the committee that he will quit unless the powers of the committee are broadened. The high point in the work of the committee will come tomorrow when Robert P. Brindell, "labor czar," is sentenced after conviction of extortion.

The state's water power problems and the necessity for framing a policy is beginning to assume equal proportions of interest of the legislators with traction problems. Legislators tonight are expected to be asked by resolution to lend their moral support to the fight instituted by Attorney General Charles D. Newton to test the constitutionality of the national Esch water power act. The attorney general's action seeks to restrain the federal water power commission from interfering with or disposing of the state's water powers. The majority leaders in both houses are expected to introduce these sanctioning resolutions.

Governor Miller will be back at his desk in the executive chamber after over a week's absence due to illness and it is possible that before the week ends he may address the legislators on water power. Traction bills carrying out Governor Miller's recommendations reorganizing both public service commissions are in shape for early submission to the two houses. Governor Miller himself is understood to have taken a hand in the drafting of these measures. Early disavowal of the governor's traction program is said to be gradually changing to approval, although New York city legislators, particularly the Democrats, undoubtedly will be a unit in opposition.

The public will be given an opportunity Tuesday to say what it thinks about the prohibition enforcement bills, two distinct measures having been submitted. One is the Mullen-Gage bill, carrying out the governor's recommendations. The other introduced by Assemblyman John W. Slater of Erie embodies Anti-Saloon League views. This measure, however, will be thrown in the discard as the league generally approved the Mullen-Gage bills.

A continuation of the hearing on the labor law recodification and the reorganization of the state industrial commission, scheduled for Tuesday afternoon, will probably wind up the hearings on these measures and permit them to be progressed and passed.

An attempt to amend the assembly rules to provide that standing committees shall retain control over bills until adjournment may be made tonight by Assemblyman Ullman of New York. Under present rules the assembly rules committee takes charge of all legislation ten days before the close of the session when standing committees are automatically abolished. This rule, Mr. Ullman believes, gives the rules committee too autocratic powers.

Mr. Ullman would also amend the assembly rules to provide that no private or local bill shall be introduced after March 1 or be considered after March 29.

Update voters are watching with interest progression of the measure which would require New York city to put in operation voting machines. This measure is to be given a public hearing on Wednesday.

Sues Herbert Company.

Mary F. McCreedy has brought suit against the Herbert Brush Manufacturing Company of this city in the supreme court at Geneva to recover damages for breach of contract under lease. The plaintiff claims the defendant leased from her a woodworking mill with tools and equipment in this city, and when the lease terminated all the tools and equipment were returned. She sues for the value of what is missing and is represented by Attorney Peter Cantello. Among Van Allen of this city appears for the defendant company.

Boy Fancies for Yacht.

John B. Vandewater, of Poughkeepsie and Arthur S. McGee, Ralph Foster and Frank Kelly of Hyde Park, are in the boat race, have purchased the "Edgemoor," one of the fastest boats along the river. The river is still in excellent condition for her racing, although lack of wind on Friday prevented its departure from taking advantage of the ice.

Shenandoah American Train Wrecked.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Vienna, Feb. 7.—Twenty persons were killed and 30 injured, including William Upton, a member of the American mission to Austria in a train wreck near Follisburg, said a dispatch from that city today.

JAILED FOR THEFT AT RUBY

William H. West was arrested in New York city Saturday by Deputy Sheriff Richter of Saugerties and brought to the county jail on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree and held to await the action of the grand jury. West and another man were wanted for breaking into the store at Ruby about three weeks ago where it is alleged they took the cash register containing about $90 and carried it off into the woods where they broke it open and then skipped to Albany. At Albany West and his companion parted company. While waiting in the station for train West's companion, according to the story told, gave West $1 of the proceeds and told him to get something to eat. While West was eating his companion made off with the proceeds of the cash register. It is thought the other man purchased a ticket for Binghamton.

After West's companion had departed he went to New York city where he resides and was arrested there by Richter of the Saugerties police force.

HAMILTON BOYS COMING MAR. 11

On Friday evening, March 11, the Hamilton College Glee Club will give a concert in the high school auditorium under the auspices of the Kingston High School Musical Association.

Doubtless many Kingstonians will remember the delightful concert the Hamilton boys gave here last April, and will be glad to hear them again next month.

The Kingston High School Musical Association is the infant society of the high school, but has started out with a good membership and a "get-there" spirit. The aim of this association is to promote and develop music in the high school. Later announcements will give further information as to the purchasing of tickets, etc.

SCHIPP TO RUN BUS LINE

After a hearing on Friday last before Public Service Commissioner Van Namee, a permit has been given Charles A. Schipp of Marlinton to run a passenger and freight express autobus line between High Falls and Kingston, with a terminus at the Kingston Hotel, Crown street. The autobus leaves High Falls at 8:30 a. m., arrives at Stone Ridge at 9 o'clock, Marlinton at 2:30, Hurley at 10:00 and arrives at the Kingston Hotel at 10:30 o'clock. It leaves this city daily at 5:30 p. m., stopping at Hurley, Marlinton and Stone Ridge.

CELEBRATE AT AGUDAS ACHIM

The synagogue of the Agudas Achim congregation was filled Sunday night by men and women who came to celebrate the realization of the Zionist ideal. Rabbi Dr. Bernard M. Kalkman was the principal speaker and delivered a masterly address on the ideals of the movement. Dr. Kaplan said that Zionism has now the approval of the leading philanthropists and statesmen in Europe and America such as Viscount Bryce, Lord Robert Cecil, President Wilson, former President Taft, Justice Brandeis, Nathan Strauss, Judge Macle, the late Jacob Schiff, and many others who sympathize with the oppressed Jews in Eastern Europe. "It speaks well for the Jews in England and the United States who do not forget their less fortunate brethren in Eastern Europe," said the rabbi.

Dr. Kaplan was followed by the new principal of the Hebrew school, the Rev. I. Deck, who returned recently from Europe as the representative of the joint distribution committee. Rabbi Deck drew tears from his listeners when he described the awful conditions in Europe.

A. Safman acted as chairman. The meeting closed with the singing of the Hatikvah by the cantor of the Agudas Achim congregation. The officers of the congregation are forwarding today four hundred dollars to the Jewish sufferers in Europe.

WANTED LAW'S HELP

To Recover Apparatus Used in His "Moon-Shine" School.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Feb. 7.—So hearty is the demand for "bootleg" and so thriving is the business of moonshining that schools which teach distilling are springing up in some mountain districts of the south.

Prohibition Commissioner Kramer announced today that there has been discovered in North Carolina a regularly established school to teach student moonshiners all the tricks of the trade. Kramer said the head master of the school was arrested following his complaint to the sheriff that some one had stolen some of his distilling apparatus.

WOODSTOCK ARTIST COMMITTS SUICIDE

Wilson C. Dexter Jumps in Path of
New York Elevated Train—Body Badly Mangled—Motorman Tries to Avert Tragedy.

Wilson C. Dexter, a highly esteemed member of the Artists' Colony at Woodstock, met a tragic death when he jumped from the platform of the Thirty-third street station of the Sixth avenue elevated railroad into the path of a southbound South Ferry train. His body was badly mangled and so firmly wedged beneath the front wheels of the forward truck of the first car that it required more than an hour's work before firemen and the wrecking crew of the railroad could release it.

Thomas Wilson, motorman of the train, saw Dexter standing on the north end of the south bound platform when he drove the train into the station. He said that Dexter stepped back two or three steps when he saw the train coming and then ran forward and leaped head first to the tracks. Wilson jammed on the emergency brakes but could not stop his train in time to save Dexter's life. The body was dragged at least 100 feet.

Dexter was identified by the police through a bank book on the Corn Exchange Bank in his pockets, and also by bills from the Irving Hotel, New York, where he had been living for some time with his family. He also had a medal, used as a watch chain, with the words "Harvard Lampoon, 1876," engraved upon it, and in a pocket was a telegram addressed to him from D. C. Fillerbrown which read:

"Will arrive from Boston on 4 p. m. train by way of Springfield."

At the Irving Hotel it was said that Mr. Dexter and his wife had left Saturday afternoon to meet Mr. Fillerbrown, and that the latter and Mr. Dexter had returned Sunday afternoon. Mr. Dexter following later in the evening, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Dexter and their two children, and Mr. Fillerbrown, left the hotel in a taxicab, and Sunday night twenty minutes after Mr. Dexter's death this telegram was received for him from North Brookfield, Mass.:

"Arrived safely. Helen."

The clerk at the hotel said that for some weeks Mr. Dexter had talked of sending his wife and children to the country for a while. Mr. Dexter was a commercial artist and shared a studio in 54 West 37th street with Ronald Anderson. He had a home in Woodstock, where he was held in high respect not only by his fellow artists but by the entire community. No reason could be learned why he ended his life.

FORM ST. VINCENT DE PAUL BRANCH

Sunday afternoon a conference of the St. Vincent de Paul Society was organized at St. Mary's Hall to take up the charity work of the parish of St. Mary. The board of charities of the archdiocese of New York, under plans inaugurated by Archbishop Hayes, is coordinating all the works of Catholic charity and will institute in every parish in New York diocese a conference of the St. Vincent de Paul Society. The St. Mary's conference is the first to be organized in Kingston. At the meeting Sunday John Bramer, of New York, who is the director of charities for the diocese, spoke, outlining the methods to be pursued in organizing and carrying out the work. He was followed by Daniel McCarthy, vice president of the Metropolitan Council of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, who gave many interesting accounts of the efforts of the members in the large city. Very Rev. J. J. Hickey, who is the spiritual director of the society, also spoke of the necessity of the conference and of the assistance he expected it to be to him in his parish. The officers elected were: Joseph P. Sullivan, president; William O'Reilly, vice president; Thomas F. Conklin, secretary; Peter J. Fahey, treasurer. The other active workers were: Kate E. Geary, Joan David Long, James C. Geary, John C. Mahoney, Richard Murphy, John P. Whalen, Charles Farlan, P. J. Fogarty.

Our Growing Population.

The following births have been recently reported to the Board of Health:

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Eady of 134 Cedar street, a daughter, Jeanette Maude.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Mortha of 47 Humberk avenue, a daughter, Ruth.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Dunbar of No. 55 Stagehand street, a daughter, Charlotte Margaret.

Pro-Testers Germans Will Attend.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Feb. 7.—There is every reason to believe that the Germans will accept the invitation to participate in the indemnity conference in London. It was stated at the foreign office today.

Announcement was made that the conference will open on March 1, instead of February 2, the date originally set.

NATION'S FINANCES SOUNDTEST IN YEARS, WILLIAMS'S REPORT SHOWS

Again Denounces "Piracy" of New York Bankers Which Injures Producing Districts—Would Guarantee Small Bank Deposits—Fewer Bank Failures Than in 40 Years.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Feb. 7.—The nation today is upon a sounder basis financially and economically, than it has been for many years and will enter upon an era of healthy progress when prices of commodities are further stabilized, Comptroller of the Currency Williams said today in his annual report to congress.

Comptroller Williams told congress there is urgent need in the readjustment period to stamp out profiteers in money and commodities. While the banking situation is growing more secure, Williams recommended that congress should add to this security by enactment of a law which will improve the banking system and increase the security of bank depositors.

Among the main recommendations for new legislation made by Williams is one for insolvent banks to meet runs or other sudden emergencies by the use, with Federal Reserve Banks, of good securities that are not now available for such purposes. He also urges congress to enact a bank guaranty law by which all deposit balances of $5,000 and less, would be guaranteed. The effect of such a law, he said, would be to bring hundreds of millions of dollars out of hiding, and into productive use.

Again criticizing certain New York bankers whom he charges with habitually exacting exorbitant rates of interest on short time loans, Comptroller Williams asked that an amendment be made to the national bank act, providing that member banks borrowing from Federal Reserve Banks, shall be prohibited from charging more than a fair and reasonable advance over the rate paid the reserve banks.

Congress was informed that tightness of money in the agricultural and producing regions has been partly due to this diversion of large sums from the interior banks to New York to be re-loaned at higher interest.

"During the past year," he said, "banks borrowing from Federal Reserve Banks at from five to six percent have been lending funds to their customers at from 15 to 30 percent. There can be no possible excuse of such rates. These exorbitant rates have no parallel in any other civilized country, and can not be defended in New York."

Williams said the legislation he suggests would stop this form of "piracy" and make available to merchants, industrial and agricultural fields adequate credit for legitimate needs.

Despite the business strain last year, Williams said, the banks had shown the best record in "immunity from failure" in 40 years. He estimated the shrinkage in values in the United States the past year at $12,000,000,000 to $18,000,000,000. "The precipitate decline witnessed in so many lines," he said, "encourages the belief that we are near the bottom, the fall, in some instances, having been already excessive and abnormal and really not justified by actual conditions."

Criticizing the efforts of profiteers to maintain artificial prices, Williams said:

"The tendency to maintain excessive profits is seen particularly in the steel and iron and coal industries. It is essential that prices of these fundamental products should come down to a fair, just and normal basis, if we are again to attain the prosperity for which we hope."

Discussing inflation of currency, Comptroller Williams said present figures show the proportion of money in circulation to the total resources of the banks now is considerably smaller than before the European war. He said the increase in circulation of $1,962,000,000 last year, is largely accounted for by the increase in holdings of gold, deposited with Federal Reserve Banks, against which Federal Reserve notes have been issued. The comptroller's figures show the combined resources of all banks in the United States, including national, state and Federal Reserve, aggregate $69,153,704,000. National banks have 20,520,177 deposit accounts, an increase of 2,277,377 over the preceding year. Net earnings of national banks for the year amounted to $282,033,000, or $41,717,000 more than was earned before in any previous year.

PROGRESSIVES NOT SATISFIED

With Results of Harding's Cabinet Making and Other Conferences to Date—Vacation Nears End.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Daytona, Fla., Feb. 7.—President-elect Harding's vacation on the houseboat Victoria drew rapidly to a close today. The Victoria left the anchorage about twenty miles below Daytona where the party passed the night, early today. His first real stop since leaving Palm Beach was made here. His stay was brief, however. He expected, if circumstances permitted, to motor to Ormond Beach for a round of golf over the Ormond circuit, which is an old favorite after which he planned to return to Daytona and continue his voyage toward St. Augustine. No stops were scheduled for the remainder of the trip but the party expected to spend the night at another above St. Augustine, returning there Tuesday morning.

Senator Edge of New Jersey joined the party at Tusculum lake yesterday, the Victoria stopping only long enough to take the senator aboard. So far as indicated no conferences are scheduled with the progressives of the party.

Sensors Johnson, Borah and McCormack are reported from Washington to be far from satisfied with the deliberations and tentatively selected cabinet slate. They feel, it is said, that the progressive wing has not been adequately represented. There is every evidence that there has been opposition from the progressives to the appointment of Harry M. Daugherty as attorney general. That opposition, however, is not believed to have served to indicate him as cabinet possibility.

To Build Concrete Bridge.

Supt. Van Rensen of the board of public works is busy getting ready to build a concrete bridge, twelve feet wide and eighteen feet long over the brook that runs across Bellowsville on the way to Huntington Point. The present structure is of wood and requires constant attention owing to the heavy traffic during the summer months.

SINN FEIN ARMY HEAD KILLED

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Feb. 7.—Michael Collins, reputed to be commander-in-chief of the Sinn Fein army, was killed Thursday while directing an attack upon Crown forces at Burgin, according to a Central News despatch from Dublin which quoted British police officials as authority for the statement.

MURPHY SHOWS MAY COME HERE

It will be of great interest to friends of J. F. Murphy a Kingston boy, son of Mrs. Mary Murphy of 50 East Chestnut street, who is the owner of the J. F. Murphy Shows, that he will have this season one of the largest outdoor exhibitions in the United States, playing fairs. This season it will require 25 railroad cars to carry the shows which are wintering at Savannah, Ga. There will be 300 people with the shows, the 20 attractions including airplanes, aeroplanes, D. M. Bristol's horse shows, animal shows, the whip Ferris wheel, a monster merry-go-round, a midwest village run by James Burns of this city, a monkey, a motorhome, an athletic arena, land of reptiles, wild animal show, minstrel shows, and others, besides three brass bands. Mr. Murphy owns his own stable of valuable draft horses to haul the equipment from the cars to the show lot and drives a big street parade in every town, in which there are many finely painted wagons. It is expected that the J. F. Murphy Shows if they come north will visit Kingston for a week, showing on the grounds of the Kingston Fair Ground Association at the foot of North Front street, as merchants are negotiating to bring the shows here.

Can't Grow Enough Crops.

Joseph Rowenthal of Ulster Park has a most interesting article in the last number of the Journal Farmer on "Grapes" in which he tells of the grape industry in Ulster county, of the great demand and the increase in prices because of the inability of the growers to meet the supply required by the grape juice and wine makers.

GREAT FORTUNES.

According to the statement of income receipts for the year 1918 issued by the Bureau of Internal Revenue, the combined incomes of 68 Americans reached a total of more than a hundred and forty millions, and of the 68 one man's income alone was five millions, that of two others was from three to four millions, 11 possessed incomes of from two to three millions, 16 incomes from a million and a half to two millions, and 33 had incomes from one million to a million and a half. Twenty thousand persons reported in 1920 that they had incomes of $50,000 a year. We learn further that the estimates give one millionaire to every 2,100 of our inhabitants, which means that there are now 50,000 millionaires in this country.

War and after-war conditions, with opportunities for large operations as well as for profiteering, largely increased the country's rich men. The increase in our total wealth was of course disproportionate, for while the rich grew richer and many were newly enriched, and while the wages of workmen leaped to the highest peak, the middle classes to a large extent faced a serious struggle to make both ends meet. The figures for the great fortunes are rather startling. That single fortune that yields an income of five millions a year can not fall, if held together, to increase by leaps and bounds until it reaches figures to stagger the imagination. The government has taken and will for a period continue to take a heavy share of these vast incomes, but what is to be the final history of "swollen" fortunes that must grow prodigiously even without effort, if no limit should ever be fixed? Can we rely upon the rule that families pass "from shirt sleeves to shirt sleeves" in three generations?

Negligent operation of automobiles by chauffeurs personally or acting under the direction of employers has resulted in such a large number of accidents that it is proposed to amend the penal law by adding a new section to cover cases of bodily injury. A bill now before the legislature provides that a person who operates or drives or directs or knowingly and willfully permits any one subject to his commands to operate or drive any vehicle of any kind in a culpably negligent manner, whereby another suffers bodily injury, is guilty of assault in the third degree. At present, unless a carelessly operated motor or other kind of vehicle kills somebody, the owner or driver escapes criminal prosecution, unless it is prosecution for careless driving for which a minimum penalty is imposed. The limit of punishment for assault in the third degree is a $50 fine or six months' imprisonment, or both. A man who does bodily harm on another with a club may be convicted of assault in the second degree, which is a felony, punishable by imprisonment in state prison. He can be considerably more damaged with an automobile in a "culpably negligent" manner, and yet would be guilty only of assault in the third degree. A man may of greater bodily injury with a pair of brass knuckles than with his fist; with a revolver than with a hot pistol; and the law makes the punishment commensurate with the agency employed by the offender. Declaring a man guilty of assault in the third degree when he causes bodily injury to another by operating an automobile in a "culpably negligent" manner makes a farce of criminal prosecution for such an offense. The injury of a person by "culpable negligence" should be a felony and should be an addition to the present Section 242 of the penal law, which relates to assault in the second degree.

In order to insure protection against prosecution, it will probably become necessary for express companies and other carriers to require shippers to furnish an affidavit that packages and parcels do not contain liquor. If the state legislature adopts one of the prohibition enforcement bills now pending, under this bill no carrier of liquor or other prohibited articles is to be liable for carrying or shipping any package or unpackage containing intoxicating liquor without notifying the carrier of the true nature and character of the shipment, and no carrier shall transport such liquor unless the package contains information concerning the kind and quantity of liquor contained in the package. The carrier shall not ship a package, knowing the statement contained on the outside of the package to be false. The safest plan for express companies, railroads and steamboat companies will be to require examination of the package by the agent. Because of the hardship this procedure would entail, the easiest plan—and it is difficult to see how the companies can do less—is to require an affidavit that the package does not contain liquor. These things may delay people in the conduct of ordinary affairs, may entail hardship and invite perjury, but these will be only trifling additions to similar conditions which prohibition enforcement was intended to create.

LENTEN RULES FOR CATHOLICS

Lenten rules were proclaimed in all the Catholic Churches in the New York diocese on Sunday, and read in the Catholic Churches in this city at the Masses, they being issued by Very Rev. John J. Dunn, chancellor of the archdiocese, acting in the absence of Archbishop Hayes, who is visiting Rome. They are as follows: "All the week days of Lent from Ash Wednesday to noon on Holy Saturday are fast days of precept. Wednesdays and Fridays (by special indulgent) and Ember Saturday (February 19) are days of both fast and abstinence. On Sundays in Lent there is neither fast nor abstinence.

"The law of fasting ordains that only one full meal a day may be taken, either at noon or in the evening, with a small portion of food in the morning and a moderate collation at lunch or supper, according to the time selected for the principal meal. At breakfast a small piece of bread with a cup of coffee, tea, chocolate or cocoa may be taken. At dinner there is no restriction except that imposed by the virtue of temperance and the spirit of the penitential season. The use of fish and flesh at the same meal on fast days and on Sundays in Lent is no longer forbidden. At lunch or supper a moderate collation is allowed. Meat may not be taken, but eggs and white meats are permitted.

"On days of fasting and abstinence (Wednesdays and Fridays and Ember Saturday) the use of meat and of broth made from meat is prohibited; otherwise the regulations are the same as on days of fasting only.

"Dripping and lard may always be used in preparing food.

"The church excuses from the obligation of fasting all under 21 and over 59 years of age, irrespective of their physical condition; all whose health would be seriously impaired, or who would be prevented by fasting from properly performing their ordinary duties. Consequently the sick, convalescent, persons with weak constitutions, those whose work is of a laborious and exhausting character, women in delicate health and condition are not obliged to observe the law of fasting. Those excused or dispensed from fasting may eat meat on all fast days.

"The church excuses from the obligation of abstinence all children until the completion of their seventh year; all who by reason of sickness and enfeebled health cannot observe the precept. By a special indulgent granted to the bishops of the United States, dated March 15, 1895, and since renewed, working people who cannot easily observe the common law of the church are dispensed from the obligation of abstinence (but not of fasting) on all days of the year except Fridays, Ash Wednesday, the Wednesday in Holy Week, the forenoon of Holy Saturday and Christmas eve. This dispensation includes not only the individual workman in whose favor it is granted but all the members of his family as well.

"The church expressly recommends that all who for any reason are excused or dispensed from fasting or abstinence should practice mortification in eating and drinking according to their ability. They should also substitute for the fast or abstinence some pious work, attendance at the Lenten devotions and stations of the cross and alms giving to the poor.

"Those who doubt whether they are excused from the observance of fasting or of abstinence, should consult their confessor, who is the proper judge in such questions and is also empowered in individual cases to dispense from fast or abstinence for valid reasons.

"By special indulgent the time for complying with the precept of Paschal communion extends from the first Sunday in Lent to Trinity Sunday, inclusive (February 13 to May 22).

New York Business Center Changing.

With the news that the Bowery Savings Bank is to erect a building on Park Street at Forty-second Street opposite the Grand Central station and that the new twenty-four story Gotham National Bank building, now nearing completion, at Broadway and Fifty-ninth Street, is to be the new headquarters of the Columbia Graphophone Company, which has every reason to believe to be in the midst of the architectural details, the story is being added to the list of the Grand Central station structure in order to accommodate this company's operations of business, and much new office space is projected. Only a few cases, such as the Murray Hill section, Gramercy Park and Greenwich Village, remain in residential districts within the adjacent area.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

An American staying at a Bombay hotel was astonished on waking one morning to see a poisonous looking lizard crawling about the walls. Ignorant of the lizard's harmlessness and of its great usefulness as a fly-catcher, he sat down and wrote a note to the hotel management, calling attention to the presence of the beast. A few minutes later he received a reply.

"Dear Sir," it ran, "we thank you for calling our attention to the matter of your room lizard. We regret that the lizard was omitted from your last weekly bill, and beg to inclose herewith special account for one rupee, which represents our weekly charge for the lizard's services. An early settlement will oblige. Manager."

Riawatha in Oceania.

Then the noisy little groundhog. Broke his sleep on Wednesday morning.

Dragged himself unto the doorway. Looked to see the sun shining. Saw its beams when nine was striking.

Saw and turned himself, and crawling sought again the winter slumber. Which was briefly interrupted.

Only just a little minute. Shone the sun from out the heavens. Over on the huddle-daddies. On the knolls across the river. But it called again the winter. Back to finish what it started.

Only just a little minute— But that minute did its darndest.

An epitaph reads as follows:

"This yere is skried to the memory of William Henry Skaraken, who was shot by Col's revolver—one of the old kind, brass mounted, and of such is the kingdom of heaven."

HOW TO BURN COKE IN HOUSE HEATING EQUIPMENT

THE "BUREAU OF MINES" BULLETIN NO. 242 STATES

THICKNESS OF FUEL BED

If the size of the furnace will permit the fuel bed should be carried about 18 inches thick. A thick fuel bed helps to check the draft and gives slow uniform combustion and uniform temperature in the house. With a thick fuel bed the fire will last a long time without requiring attention. If a thin fuel bed is carried the coke burns too fast, giving a hot uneven fire that burns out quickly and requires frequent firing. A thin fire also tends to produce more clinkers.

SHAKING THE GRATE

A coke fire requires less shaking of the grate than a coal fire. In ordinary weather one shaking a day, preferably in the morning, is all that will be necessary. In very cold weather the grate may have to be shaken before each firing. Usually better results are obtained when the grate is not shaken too much, and it should never be shaken so much that pieces of hot coke fall into the ashpit. Therefore in shaking the grate the ashpit should be watched and the shaking should stop as soon as the first sparks appear in the ashpit. Some people who have burned coke for many years say that they get better results if they leave a layer of ashes about 1 to 2 inches thick on the grate all the time. The ashes help to check the draft and keep the hot coke from coming in contact with the grate. Between firings the fuel bed should be stirred as little as possible.

SLING NO MORE

Writes The Standard Correspondent in the Roxbury Times.

Friday the 21st, came around mild seventy-seven years prior, came on Tuesday when I was born in the forenoon, so I am told and it was a bright sunny warm day. The old women of our neighborhood were on hand and said it was about eleven o'clock when it happened and used to flatter me on my appearance. I felt darned proud. Brandy sling was on tap those days, but it is sling nothing these days.

CONDENSED CLASSICS

WATERLOO

By MM. ERCKMANN-CHATRIAN

Condensation by Charles E. L. Wingate

Erckmann-Chatrian is the joint name of two French writers whose collaboration made their work that of an immortal, one personality; the former writing chiefly and the latter editing and adapting for the stage. Erckmann was born on the 24th of May, 1822, at Phalsbourg, and Louis Chatrian, on the 15th of December, 1826, at Niderviller, Lorraine. They began their work together in 1847 and continued doing so until 1868.

Among their best publications are "Le Tour de France à bicyclette," "Le Tour de France à cheval," "Le Tour de France à pied," and many other stories. The series of novels to which Erckmann-Chatrian owes its great popularity includes "Le Tour de France à bicyclette," "Le Tour de France à cheval," "Le Tour de France à pied," and many other stories. Their dramatic compositions and adaptations are numerous in "Chances de la Vie," "Le Tour de France à bicyclette," "Le Tour de France à cheval," "Le Tour de France à pied," and many other stories. Their dramatic compositions and adaptations are numerous in "Chances de la Vie," "Le Tour de France à bicyclette," "Le Tour de France à cheval," "Le Tour de France à pied," and many other stories.

THERE was for unbounded when Louis the Eighteenth returned in 1614.

Yes, everybody was delighted, except the old soldiers and the fencing masters.

Living with Father Gaudin in Phalsbourg of old Lorraine, I was happy in the belief that conscription was now over, and that at last I should be able to marry Catherine and live in peace.

So, when the marriage permit came, I rushed at once to her with the news. I kissed her again and again and we both wept for joy.

And then, after the happiness of marrying Catherine, my greatest delight lay in thinking that I should be a tradesman for the rest of my life.

Ah, what a happy life! what satisfaction to be young and to have a simple, good, industrious wife! We shall never be old! We shall always love one another and always retain about us those whom we love.

Thus days and weeks went by. But, later on, we found that the returning royalists, the ministers and the princes, who had rushed back to France after Napoleon's banishment, adopted the most insolent manner toward us, the people. And as to their treatment of Napoleon's former soldiers I can still hear the commandant expostulating. "They are starving us; they are treating us like Cosacks; only they are too cowardly to shoot us."

But, about the beginning of March, a rumor began to circulate that the emperor had escaped from Elba and had landed in France. Quickly his advance toward Paris followed; and the old soldiers, sent out to restrain him, rushed forward to kneel at his feet. Thus it was that Napoleon again came to the throne.

What happened afterward, however, was not so agreeable to me, now a married man, settled as I had hoped for a life of peace. For I was called to the colors. Aunt Grethel, who had always been like a mother to me, sobbed aloud. Catherine, passed into a deadly swoon.

Yet, in spite of all, I needed must leave for the army with my old veteran soldier friend, Zebede, and at once we were rushed to the front.

One day, as we battled, the emperor came to our lines and the whole division shouted "Vive l'Empereur!"

I had a good view of him as he advanced with his arms crossed behind his back and his head bent. He had grown stouter and more sallow since the days of Leipzig. He looked much older and his cheeks were flabby. Little wonder, also, that he appeared worried—for he had not lost everybody's confidence. The old soldiers alone retained their love for him; they were ready to conquer or to die in his behalf. But for my part I cared much more for Catherine than for the emperor. Of her I thought with greatest tenderness, the more so knowing that she would soon become a mother. And I prayed to God to preserve my life.

At last we came upon the Prussians and driving them back at Ligny, we won our way to the British.

I thought I should drop every moment from weakness, but finally near Waterloo on mounting a little ridge, we saw the English pickets through the rain.

In a cornfield, under a beating storm, we lay like apples, our teeth chattering with the cold, and yet thinking of conquering our fellow men, and exulting ourselves lucky if we had a turnip, a carrot or something else to keep up our strength. Is that a life for a decent man? Is it for this that God created us? Is it for an ambition to think that a king or an emperor, instead of encouraging commerce and doing liberty, should reduce us to this state by hundreds of thousands? I know that this is called glory, but people are foolish to glory in such men who have lost all sense of right and wrong and religion.

When I awoke in the morning, the cornfields were empty and I thought:

"Today is Sunday, a day of peace and rest. Father Gaudin, dressed in his best coat and a clean shirt, is thinking of me. Catherine is sitting on the bed and weeping. Aunt Grethel has taken her prayer book and is going to pray." As I pictured to myself that quiet, happy life, I could have burst into tears.

But the drums began to beat and the trumpets sounded.

The first movement was when our four divisions were ordered to advance. We were about twenty thousand men marching in two lines and sinking up to our knees with every step in the soft mud. Nobody spoke a word.

Face to face with us were the English, in perfect order, their cannons with lighted matches in their hands. On all sides, as far as the eye could reach, nothing was to be seen but cuirasses, helmets, swords, lances and bayonets.

"What a battle!" cried Buche, my comrade-in-arms. "Woe to the English!"

And I thought as he did. I believed that not a single Englishman would escape. But had luck pursued us that day, though had it not been for the Prussians, I think we should have exterminated them all.

Down into the little valley we poured, right into the face of the English fire, and shouting all the time "Give them the bayonet!"

The batteries hurled their grape-shot point blank upon us. It was then, for the first time, I saw the English close at hand. They had fair skins and were clean shaven like respectable citizens. They can fight well, too—but we are as good as they. Every shot of the English told; and this forced us to break our ranks, for men are not mere paladins.

And almost at the same moment we saw a mass of red dragons, on gray horses, sweeping along like the wind and snatching our stragglers without mercy. It was one of the most terrible moments of my life as we were driven back.

What a fearful thing is a battle!

Then out came Marshal Ney waving his sword in the air. Older, thinner and more bony than when I saw him last but still the same brave soldier with the clear eyes that seemed to take us all in.

"Forward," he cried, "I shall lead you myself!" And we rushed ahead, one after the other like a pack of wolves, until we gained the principal outpost of the British.

But suddenly the rumor spread that the Prussians were coming. I felt myself grow pale.

At that moment cries of "Vive l'Empereur!" rose from thousands of throats behind us, and looking back I saw all our cavalry of the right wing advancing to attack the solid squares of the English. It was an awesome sight. With waving sabres they rushed pell-mell again and again upon the red-coats. Twenty such charges they made, until the horses of our cuirassiers, exhausted, could no longer even walk—and there still firmly stood the great red lines, steadfast as walls.

Now all that remained for attack was the Old Guard—those wonderful veterans who had fought in Germany, in Egypt, in Spain and in Russia, of whom the Emperor took special care and who no longer knew parents or relations. They only knew the emperor who was their god. When it was said in the ranks "The Guard is going to charge," it was the same as saying, "The battle is won!"

And Ney commanded them!

Upon the Guard fell the concentrated hail of bullets. In twenty minutes every officer had been dismounted and the Guard, reduced from three thousand men to twelve hundred, slowly gave way.

Now the entire English army fell upon us. And, as the remnant of the Old Guard fell backward, across the field fled hussars, cuirassiers, artillery and infantry like an army of savages.

What can I tell you more? It was utter rout. And in the valley old Blucher, with forty thousand Prussians, was looming up.

The end had come—and I wept like a child.

Back we scurried, borne down with fatigue, hunger and despair.

"Keep on!" cried Buche, "The Prussians take no prisoners. Look! they are cutting down everyone."

No back, back, even to Paris we fled, and there we learned that hostilities were to be suspended, that the emperor had gone, and that the king was returning to the throne. Desperate times began.

I hurried on from village to village and at last reached Phalsbourg—and my home.

Up the stairs I sprang; Catherine was in my arms. I fell to sobbing so, only that one word, have thought of Catherine had come upon me.

The first words of Catherine were: "Joseph, I knew that you would come back. I had put my trust in God."

Thus happiness finally reached us.

Now I have tried to see the return of the flag of liberty and to see the nation increase in wealth, in education and in happiness. People begin to understand their rights. They know that not only liberty, but justice, and peace and suffering shall say, "Instead of sending our sons to perish by thousands beyond the sea, and the emperor we will have them taught and made men!" who will dare deny them?

In this hope I find great satisfaction, and I embrace you with all my heart.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE SQUASH.

"It's all right to be a winter vegetable, and it's all right to be a summer vegetable, and it's all right to be a vegetable at all."

"It's Sad."

squashed and trampled upon and walked upon and squashed down flat?"

"It does sound that way," said the potato. "But still you aren't all trampled upon and squashed down flat. In fact, I don't know that I ever saw folks going around and trampling upon you. To be sure, your name has a flat, trampled-upon sound."

"And, oh, dear!" said the squash. "We're such a dull sort of family. There is no interest to us. We're not fascinating and pretty, like the tomatoes, and we're not even loved by some and hated by others, like the cucumbers."

"They are interesting, for they have both friends and enemies."

"Now we haven't any who really love us. Most people think we'll do and that we do no harm and that we're all right, but no one ever gets excited over squash."

"And I do believe it's the name which keeps people from getting excited about us."

"Many and many have been the times members of our family have heard children and grown-ups say: 'Oh, we're going to have corn today; goodie!'"

"Or, 'We're going to have tomatoes today! Hurrah!'"

"Or, 'We're going to have peas today; how nice!'"

"Or, 'Only a few months now and we'll have asparagus! What joy!'"

"Or, 'We've grown some lettuce, see! It is in the box in that sunny window. Isn't that fine?'"

"But no one says that sort of thing when they're going to have squash."

"Squash comes and goes, and no one cares. It is eaten and no one rejoices, and it appears and no one cries out with delight."

"I do believe it is because of our name, too. No one could get excited and happy over squash. They would feel trampled upon before they got properly excited."

"Well," said the potato, "I see what you mean; but then people never get so excited about me."

"Perhaps they don't get so excited about you," said the squash, "but they're fond of you. If you're left out of a dinner you're missed."

"Folks ask where you are, and all that sort of thing, and they are fond of you, too. They like you mashed and they like you fried and they like you baked."

"Well," said the potato, "when I'm mashed I must have a pretty trampled upon sound to the world."

"No," said the squash, "you haven't; for you are nice and fluffy and creamy, and, besides, you're not called by the name of Mash, as I am by the name of Squash."

"Folks are fond of you as they would be of a loyal friend. They naturally like you and enjoy having you around for meals. But if I'm not on a dining room table in a vegetable dish no one ever says: 'Vegetables, no squash! Why, that is dreadful!'"

"And even if a few meals went by without me, it would be as bad. I mean no one would care any more."

"No one would say: 'I haven't had any squash for three meals!'"

"This is a disgrace!"

"Alas, no, the squash never hears such a thing as that. It is very, very sad indeed."

"And yet I couldn't be anything else but a squash, for it is the only thing I know how to be. Such is the story of the squash; the dull, uninteresting squash."

"Squash came for you very much," said the potato.

"Ah, good! I have such a hopeless name, such a hopeless name!" cried the squash.

Where Horses Are Made.

Little four-year-old John, while out walking with his mother, happened to pass a blacksmith shop just as the smith was shoeing a horse. On reaching home he astonished his mother by saying: "Such, mamma, I found the place where they make horses. I saw a man 'shoeing' on the floor."

The Reason For The Service Charge

When in December we applied for an increased gas rate as a necessity for securing additional revenue in order to meet increased costs, we considered carefully which would be the fairest way to all concerned to secure the needed revenue.

The more we studied the problem the more firmly were we convinced that the putting into effect of a service charge would be the most equitable and therefore the fairest way.

The correctness of this conclusion is borne out by the fact that service charges are already in force in forty other states, and in a large number of cities in this state, and that such charges have been considered and approved by eighteen Public Service Commissions throughout the country as being the most equitable method of charge.

The customer who uses little or no gas has, under the flat rate method of charge, been rendered a service for which he has not paid the cost. The resulting loss has, in the past, been borne by those who use gas in sufficient quantity each month to absorb in their bills not only their own service and commodity costs but also the loss sustained from the carrying of those customers who paid less than the cost of serving them.

We do not believe that any one wants someone else to pay for his service.

KINGSTON GAS AND ELECTRIC CO.

Interesting Tibetan Curios.

Most interesting in a museum collection of articles from remote and mysterious Tibet that has been collected at the American Museum of Natural History in New York are those pertaining to Tibetan mythology and beliefs. They include the elaborate costumes worn by the "demon dancers," and the masks used in the ceremonies for driving away demons. These "Tibetan" masks are especially celebrated and sacred. The face skulls worn in the mask are supposed to be the skulls of slain enemies, trophies of the death dance, who represents a member of the old Tibetan mythology.

Madame Mack.

What are the chief arguments for a government bank and currency? In the first place, they mean the shipping that is, really developed. The next point is the further the long our own street, the less our own loss.

COURT ADJOURNS UNTIL THURSDAY

Judge Joseph M. Fowler has been called to New Jersey by the illness of his mother.

When county court reconvened this afternoon for the purpose of disposing of unfinished business of the January trial term, County Clerk Buchanan announced adjournment until Thursday afternoon at ten o'clock.

DIVORCE DECREES ORDERED

For Anna M. Hiltbrant and Charles Jones.

An action for divorce brought by Anna M. Hiltbrant against Roy C. Hiltbrant was tried before Judge Bosch at Saturday's special term of the supreme court. The plaintiff resides in this city and her husband is living at Central Islip, Long Island, where he is employed in the state hospital. Testimony was given by two other employees of the hospital that he is living with a woman whose name is Harriet, and who is known as his wife. They have four children, one about two years old and the other two infants. Hiltbrant has been married at the Central Islip State Hospital since 1919 and he receives $72 a month. Judge Bosch directed that a decree of divorce be prepared. Frank W. Brooks appeared for the plaintiff; there was no appearance on the part of the defendant.

An action for divorce brought by Charles Jones against Margaret Jones was also tried before Judge Bosch. The parties are natives and were married in this city in 1906. They have four children, the oldest of whom is 14 years and the youngest 8 years, all of whom live with their father at East Kingston. Mrs. Jones left her husband six or seven years ago and according to the testimony of members of her family she has been living for several years in Poughkeepsie with "Cap" Brown, and is known by her neighbors there as Mrs. Brown. A decree of divorce was directed to be prepared. Andrew J. Cook appeared for the plaintiff; there was no appearance by the defendant.

THE RANGERS LOST

Prattville Five Wins Basketball Game at Albion.

The Prattville Five visited Shadeggon Hall at Albion Saturday night and captured a game from the Chichester Rangers that was strongly and swiftly played during the entire forty minutes. Every man on the Rangers had an opponent who had an advantage of being heavier and taller. The Rangers, however, carried the long end of the score for a good part of the first half. The lineup follows:

Rangers.	FB.	FP.	TP.
Zimmerman, F.	4	9	8
Frost, F.	1	0	5
Morrill, C.	5	0	16
Anderson, S.	5	1	11
Bennett, S.	1	0	2
Totals	16	1	33

Prattville.	FB.	FP.	TP.
Chase	1	0	5
Brownell	3	0	18
Overbaugh	5	0	15
Bernard	9	0	9
Carmen	0	1	1
Totals	22	1	43

Score at half time, 25 to 22 in favor of Prattville. Referee, Cassidy.

Company M Inspection.

An inspection of Company M, First Infantry, New York Guard, will be held at the armory tonight. The company will be inspected by Major J. A. B. Mundy of New York, who was overseas with the 27th Division, assisted by Major Waterman of Poughkeepsie, who is commanding officer of the battalion of which the Kingston company is a part. It is urged that all members of the company be present. The public is invited.

The Winners Bible Class of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church will give a Children's Day entertainment Tuesday evening, February 16. The ticket of the evening will be the Rev. P. S. Bennett of Chester, N. Y., who is considered one of the foremost members of the day. A musical program is also being arranged. The senior class of the school will be entertained by the winners.

Water Ice Is Waning.

Recently the ground has made a mistake the other day when he laid down a hard and then melted, softened at his shadow, for even when the sun's rays have been warm like spring when winter has been cold as not done the day has held no need for the ice is gradually melting away, although there is still fully five inches of ice at Kingston Point.

Federal Tax Man Coming.

A federal income tax man is to be here in making out their income tax returns. It is expected he will be in Kingston about February 12. The notice of his arrival will be given in The Freeman.

Once Tonight.

The new and grand of the Immaculate Conception Church will give a service in the school hall tonight.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 7.—Samuel Untermyer, chief counsel to the Lockwood legislative housing, investigating committee, conferred with senate and assembly leaders here this afternoon.

Mr. Untermyer offered a compromise suggestion to the leaders who would take from the committee many of its original powers and deny it requests for additional power to fully investigate banks and insurance companies.

Mr. Untermyer also served on the leaders the ultimatum that unless his compromise is accepted he will retire. Several other members of the committee also plan to withdraw. Mr. Untermyer refused to make public his suggestions, before the conference.

COLUMBIA TEAM
LOSES STELLE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Edward Stelle, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard K. Stelle, 73 Albany avenue, this city, has associated himself with the International Banking Corporation of New York City, and after taking nine months' training here and abroad will take up banking work in the far East, probably in China. The following was printed in the New York Tribune, on February 4th, telling of Mr. Stelle's leaving Columbia University fencing team of which he was captain:

"For the second time in as many years, the Columbia fencing team has lost its leader before the completion of the regular season of competition. Edward Stelle, Jr., captain of the 1921 aggregation of swordsmen, graduated a half year earlier than he had expected, and handed in his resignation, to take immediate effect, February 3d. Stelle, who competed for the Blue and White for the last time in the Junior national sabre team competition at the New York Turn Verein last Monday. He won all his bouts, Stelle was regarded as the best sabre expert in the intercollegiate association and was favored to win the individual championship next month. He will compete for the New York Athletic Club in the future. The Columbia team suffered a similar loss in 1920, when M. J. Bloomer, Jr., the Olympic foilsmen, was taken sick and could not compete in the intercollegiate championships.

KERHONKSON REVIVAL

Continues With Interest of People Unabated.

Kerhonkson, Feb. 7.—The Muir-Kaufman evangelistic campaign in the M. E. Church continues with unabated interest, as attested by the large congregations attending the meetings.

The "booster" boys and girls organized by Prof. R. E. Kaufman, of the Muir-Kaufman evangelistic party, held a very interesting program in the church on Saturday evening. Led by Prof. Kaufman they sang several songs and gave their "yells" with vim and vigor and displayed a spirit of marked enthusiasm that attracted considerable attention.

Prof. Kaufman has done excellent work with the boys and girls and they all love and admire him with true youthful affection.

Services throughout the week at 7:30 with the exception of Monday evening.

On Tuesday evening our adjoining towns, Accord and Napanoch, are asked to join us.

Thursday afternoon at 2:30 devotional services will be held. All are welcome. On Thursday evening the ladies will meet with us in a body.

Friday evening the service will be devoted to the children. All adjoining schools are asked to attend.

On Saturday evening friends from Port Jervis and Accord will be with us. Saugerties and Malden will also join us some time during the week.

Sunday morning a beautiful and tender mothers' day service will be held with the organ and music appropriate to the occasion. All mothers, propriate or not, will be conspicuously worn in honor of mothers. In the afternoon another service for women only will be held at 2:30 with Prof. Kaufman as leader. At this time Evangelist Muir will meet men only in the town hall. Boys under 12 years of age not allowed.

The regular evening service at the usual hour. The subject will be "The Blood." All invited to hear these sermons.

Overdoing It.

We deeply sympathize with the Stratford man who asked the magistrates for a separation order because his wife chased him with a hatchet every day. It is too often.—London Pictorial.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Feb. 7.—There was a strong tone at the opening of the stock market to-day, but trading was of small volume. Comment was caused by the fact that not a sale of Steel Common was made during the first fifteen minutes.

The Reading issues were the most prominent, the common stock preferred and second preferred, making further fractional gains. The local traction shares moved up on small sales. General Asphalt was in demand, advancing over 1 point to 47. Sears Roebuck made a gain of 1/4 to 87 1/2. There was the usual wide range in Mexican Petroleum, which dropped 1 1/2 to 154. Royal Dutch yielded 1 point to 59. Standard Oil fell 1/4 to 56 1/2 and advanced to 57 1/2. At the end of the first quarter of an hour a sale of Steel Common was made at 81 1/2, unchanged from Saturday's closing.

After showing strength in the first fifteen minutes the market quickly changed its direction and nearly all the leading issues were under pressure. Royal Dutch dropped 3 points to 57 and Mexican Petroleum was also in supply, yielding 1/4 to 153 1/2. The steel industrials were offered in large volume. Steel Common selling down 1/4 to 81 1/2 and Baldwin declined 1 1/2 to 86 1/2. Crucible Steel advanced 1/4 to 93 and then dropped to 90 1/2. Southern Pacific "rites" advanced 1/4 to 29.

LENTEN SERVICES AT ST. JOHN'S

The following will be the Lenten services during the week days at St.
John's Episcopal Church on Wall street, the special Sunday services being announced from week to week in the regular church notices: Ash Wednesday, February 9, Holy Communion at 8 a. m.; 7:30 p. m. Litany, penitential office and sermon, preached by the rector, the Rev.
Leighton Williams, D. D.

On the Tuesday afternoons during Lent there will be given at 4.30 o'clock the following lectures on
"The Religion of the Prayer Book":
Feb. 15—Morning and Evening
Prayer.

Feb. 22—The Litany and Penitential Office.

March 1—The Collects, Epistles and Gospels.

March 8—The Holy Communion
Office.

Cameron.

March 25.—Good Friday, the rector.

During holy week there will be special additional services which will be announced later.

Weather Halted Ice Gathering.
Owing to the warm spell of weather work of harvesting ice at the 16, 000-ton house of Dwyer Brothers near Steep Rocks had to be stopped Sunday by Walter Woods, superintendent in charge. Fine eleven inch ice was cut from the cove near the Terry ice house, a canal having been cut from there to the Dwyer ice house. During the four or five days of harvesting about 10,000 tons were hauled. Work will be resumed when the ice hardens.

Pancake Supper.
The men's class of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church are planning a pancake supper to be given on Wednesday evening, February 9, from 5:30 to 8 o'clock. This is the first public affair the class has undertaken and the ladies are watching the progress with much interest. The menu will consist of pancakes, sausage, gravy, maple syrup, coffee, rolls and crullers.

There is one field in which the wise man and the fool meet on a common level. That is when they fall in love

BOTH K. H. S. TEAMS WON

Varsity Beat Albany by One Point in Exciting Contest While Midgits
Filed Up 25-8 Score.

Saturday afternoon the Kingston
High School Varsity and Midgit basketball teams journeyed to Albany, where they defeated the Albany Academy Varsity and Junior teams. The Varsity won by the close score of 25-24, while the Midgits rolled up a total of 23 points against the Albany Juniors' 8.

The game between the two Varsity teams was fast and exciting throughout and the Albanians held a slight lead nearly all the time until in the last few minutes of play, the local boys took a brace and forged ahead into the lead which they held until the end. As had been previously predicted, the "Senators" had prepared themselves for a hard battle, remembering their defeat on the local court three weeks ago. Both teams played for all that was in them and only after a hard fight did the maroon and white boys annex the Albany scalp to their belt for the trip homeward.

Albright and Rowland were in the points for the locals, scoring most of the points made by their team.
Millard was the star point getter for the Albany team. The summary:

In the second game the Midgits won out by a score of 23-8. This game was not as fast and interesting as the varsity game, because the maroon and white "dwarfs" had everything their way. Not once during the game did the local boys get into a tight place and hold a safe lead throughout. There did not seem to be any individual starting on either team and the local boys displayed a good brand of teamwork.

INCOME TAX TALK.

By Director Hasbrouck At Ellenville
February 8.

J. DePuy Hasbrouck, district director of the Kingston office of the New York State Income Tax Bureau, will address the members of the Fort Jervis Rotary Club at a luncheon to be held at the Y. M. C. A.
at 12:30 p. m. on February 16.

Mr. Hasbrouck will also address the Chautauque Club of the town of Wawarsing on Tuesday evening, February 9, at 8 o'clock. This meeting will be held in the Hotel
Memorial Hall in the village of Ellenville.

At both meetings the Kingston district director will discuss changes in the State Income Tax Law and give information of importance to business men and citizens, who are required to file returns by April 15.

A Western Bankrupt.

United Office of Western, N. Y., has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy for United States Circuit Court,
New York city. Liabilities are $1,949, of which $1,199 are unsecured claims and $750 notes and bills, and no assets. Arthur J. Fowler of Newburgh is attorney for the bankrupt.

At Long Range.
A gospel is never willing to repeat unkind remarks to your face. We recently heard one when accused of this try to justify herself by saying: "Gospels, madam, is a social attack conducted on the approved principles of modern warfare—you are not supposed to see the person at whom you are shooting."—Boston Transcript.

Forest Exhaustion a Danger.
The Department of Agriculture says that the crisis of timber depletion is the exhaustion, or partial exhaustion, of the forests that are most available to the bulk of the population of the country. One-half of the lumber remaining in continental United States is in three states, bordering on the Pacific ocean.

The Stout Woman Can Save
The Entire Price of a Corset
by buying
One of the New Nemo
Self-Reducing Corsets
at $5.00
They are Built To Last As Long As
Two Corsets of Average Make

The Nemo Self-Reducing Corset is made to stand the wear which the stout figure must necessarily give it.
The Self-Reducing Straps—simple in construction—yet scientific and most successful in result—retain their usefulness throughout the entire life of the corset.
The corset itself must fit well, wear well and retain its shape in order that the hygienic features may perform their functions to the best advantage.
So one is dependent on the other —and each is constructed for greater wearing service.

No Custom-Made Corset Is Made
With As Great Skill and Care
As the Nemo Self-Reducing Models
Yet the price is no higher than for any ordinary corset—yet approaching the Nemo in quality or service.
